Week 2 - Puka and the Secret State

As all of you know a trade occurred early tuesday morning that sent ripple effects throughout the league. Puka and Terry for Waddle and Stevenson. Critics were calling for a veto and even projecting that 80% of the league would deny this trade if given the opportunity. Asking Josh to comment he said the following statement. "This trade is what makes fantasy football fantasy football, if they veto they hate fantasy football."

Needing two-thirds of the votes to veto the trade only 54% voted to veto. With a lot of passion coming from both sides of the aisle, we will now have to keep track of how well this trade came out. In response to the outcome of the trade Lucas states "I pulled off a sweet deal."

The Power 4

1. Harley Davidson (4-0) +1

Not really sure how David pulled this off but Brian Robinson became a man this weekend. If CMC stays healthy they will be hard to stop

2. Dona de Casa (4-0) +2

Continues to impress. Thayna has never lost a game in fantasy football. Let that sink in.

3. Mr Jorge (3-1) +11

The last time Guilly was this high in the power rankings Harambe was saving a child, Pokemon Go just came out, and Phillip was flapping his wings. #RIPPhillip #RIPHarambe

4. Pinegrove Shuffle (4-0) +8

The man is silently doing his thing. I'm pretty sure Mat has no idea who anyone on his team is yet he has built a solid roster that could potentially take him deep into the playoff.
