Week 4 - Puka Aftermath

A week has passed and I think we all wondered did the Puka trade even do anything? What team are they on again? That's right everyone sweating over the imbalance of power yet both Lucas and Josh won 0 games this week... that is until you look a bit deeper.

Lucas with a power move decided to start Stevenson and Waddle this past week. He paid the price knowing that Waddle was going to be out, yet still put a decent score of 80. He could have easily won if he took out the two players that were out of his starting lineup. Cold and calculated.

As for Josh week 2 he scored 81 and week 3 he scored 62. Let him cook.

The Power 4

1. Pinegrove Shuffle (6-0) +3
 Defining win for the wonder kid. Cementing his legacy as the rising meme stock in this league. No one gave him a chance yet he's the closest to getting all our money.

2. Milf Ford Hero (5-1) -1
 Just because David lost the battle doesn't mean he lost the war. Still a favourite to take it all.

3. Cotton Fields (6-0) +6
 Big boi finally made it to the top 4. Moss, Doubs, Pierce, Dell is what makes his starting line up.... Yea we aren't sure how he is up here.

4. Team iabermagge (4-2) +1
 Sneaky top tier team. The duo of Kelce and Laporta might carry Ivan to the final.

- 7. Herb Zero (6-0) +3

- 11. Team Tralongo28 (4-2) +1
- 12. President Jefferson (3-3) -6

Bleedblack'n'yellow keeps jumping all over the standings one of the most bipolar teams in the league.

When are we going to give Herb Zero and the Hurt Hammys their flowers for being 2 of the 4 undefeated teams ... they are consistently hovering over the median line. I don't think they have the fire power to beat the top tier teams on this list but they will most likely make it far in the playoffs.

Survival Mode

- 13. #RICKFORPRES (2-4) +8
- 14. Njigbas in Paris (2-4) -3
- 15. Notha Que Pirraca (2-4) +7

Aftermath of the Puka trade ... Nothing. Both teams are under the radar with no hopes of moving forward.
